Prague — the Best Beer City in Europe
by Evan Rail

Prague is the best city in Europe for beer lovers.

That probably sounds outlandish, at least at first glance. Other European capitals certainly might offer greater variety, with a few more kinds of beer available. In a city like Brussels, you could probably find 40 different types of beer, including many rarities that would be hard to spot anywhere outside of Belgium. But in Brussels, you can also walk for blocks without finding any decent beer at all. In Prague, on the other hand, good beer — and often amazingly great beer — is on just about every corner.

Other cities seem to have greater amounts of pubs or breweries, but there’s often a catch. In London, interest in good beer has caused an explosion in the number of breweries, giving the UK capital almost 80 breweries today. But that amount is for London’s enormous population of 8.7 million, meaning there is one brewery for every 108,750 inhabitants. By contrast, Prague currently has 35 working breweries and a population of just 1.26 million, giving us one brewery per just 36,000 people. On a per-capita basis, if London were to have as many breweries and brewpubs as Prague, it would need to have 242 — almost three times as many as it does today.

There’s also the question of price. Even in Prague’s most expensive pubs, good beer remains very affordable, including many imports, compared to most big cities in Europe. (One brewer from the Netherlands was recently surprised to discover that his craft beers actually cost less in Prague than they do in Amsterdam or Utrecht, even after accounting for shipping costs.) And Prague’s excellent public transportation system means that beer travellers can easily get from one pub, beer garden or microbrewery to the next, making it possible to create multi-day itineraries focusing entirely on tracking down great ales and lagers.

This is a huge difference from just seven or eight years ago, when it was difficult to find many beers beyond the biggest national brands in Prague, and there was only a small handful of brewpubs. Today, Prague is home to more than 30 brewpubs, with more opening every year. Pubs like Zlý časy now offer as many as 48 taps of lagers and ales from every corner of the Czech Republic, as well as rare beers from traditional European brewing regions like Belgium and Bavaria. (It’s no exaggeration to say that you are more likely to find obscure Bavarian brews in Prague than in the German capital of Berlin, to say nothing of rare lagers from places like north Moravia and the Šumava mountains.) The huge amount of options means that you can try out brand-new brews like those coming out of modern Vinohradský pivovar, which started in 2014, before heading towards some of the most historic destinations in the beer world: dating from the year 1499, Prague’s U Fleků is believed to be the oldest continuously functioning brewpub in the world. Nearby, U Medvídků has been a famous tavern since 1466. In terms of beer and history, very few places come even remotely close to the Golden City.

So grab the Beer Guide to Prague and a tram pass. Plan out a route to a number of beery destinations or just relax in the shade of a single beautiful beer garden. Work up a thirst or quench one. Wherever you go in Prague, you can be sure that another great beer is waiting for you just around the corner.

Classic Czech Pub Etiquette

Today's Prague has an incredible variety of beer establishments that reflect its increasingly cosmopolitan character. There are, however, still quite a few traditional pubs left that are proudly sticking to their time-tested way of doing things – communal tables, no more than three types of beer on tap (usually two pale lagers and perhaps one dark), and no-frills, basic pub food along the lines of sausage, goulash, pickled cheese and perhaps herring (you will find a few such places on page 46 of this guide).

If you wish to immerse yourself in what is an undeniably authentic Czech experience, be sure to follow these unspoken rules, especially since the servers are not likely to speak English (although German might be a better bet).

A note on smoking: Smoking was banned in Czech restaurants by a new law that takes full effect on 1 June, 2017. After this date, you can only smoke at outdoor tables.

Finding a table or seat
In a classic Czech pub, you don’t wait to be seated. Simply walk over to any available-looking spot (the tables tend to be long and seat more than one party) and ask the person sitting next to it: Je tu volno? [yeh too voll-noh?] If the answer is a nod or an ano (yes), feel free to sit down.

Ordering beer
You signal your desire for a beer by placing a paper coaster in front of you. There is usually a 'default' beer being served, and the standard size is 0.5 litre (roughly a pint). The next time a waiter or waitress comes around, they’ll plop one in front of you without you having to ask.
Ordering more beer
Once you finish your beer, the server will remove the empty glass and offer a new one by asking Jesté jedno? [yesh-tey yed-noh?] Simply nod your head.

Beer size
You can order a small (malé [mah-lay]) beer which is 0.3 litre, but unless you are a woman or this beer is your last after at least one full-sized one, you have just outed yourself as a dilettante.

Tab
In an old-school pub, your tab is a strip of paper on which the server marks beers with short vertical lines. Do not lose this all-important piece of paper.

Settling the bill
To signal you are ready to pay, place your wallet on the table. You can also flag the server down and say zaplatím [zah-plah-team]. Cash payments are much preferred over a credit card.

Tipping
A 10% tip is standard if you were pleased with your experience.

Niceties
The word for thank you is děkuji [day-koo-yi], goodbye is na shledanou [nah-sled-dunno]. And, most importantly, cheers is na zdraví [nahs-draw-vee]!
Glossary of Beer Styles and Terms

The following list covers the majority of terms you might encounter, including both styles of beer (such as stout) and specific terms that have been codified by Czech law (such as řezané pivo and ležák).

10º – a beer made from wort with at least 10% extracted sugars before fermentation. Known as a Desítka.

11º – a beer made from wort with at least 11% extracted sugars before fermentation. Known as a Jedenáctka.

12º – a beer made from wort with at least 12% extracted sugars before fermentation. Known as a Dvanáctka.

ALE – generally, a term used for all top-fermented beers; as a style, ale is often used to refer to the traditional hoppy brews, often pale, from Britain and the United States. Often written as Ejl in Czech.

ALT – a type of malty, moderately bitter, top-fermented beer, usually amber in colour, traditionally associated with Düsseldorf.

AMBER – lager or ale type beer whose colour is halfway between light and dark beer.

BARLEYWINE – a type of very bitter and usually very sweet top-fermented beer, usually with 10% alcohol or more.

BLACK IPA – an India Pale Ale, or IPA, but very dark, often roasty in flavour, with pronounced hop flavours and aroma.
   In Czech: černá IPA.

BOCK – a type of strong, bottom-fermented beer, often equivalent to a Czech Speciální pivo.

BOTTOM-FERMENTED BEER – often called lagers, these beers are generally produced at colder temperatures, resulting in less-pronounced yeast character. In Czech: spodně kvašené pivo.

DOPPELBOCK (from German) “double bock” – an exceptionally strong, bottom-fermented German beer whose colour ranges from rusty to deep brown. Strong and rich, with a long-lasting foam. Branded dopplebock beers nearly always carry the –ator suffix.

IMPERIAL PILSNER / IMPERIAL LAGER – a type of strong, pale, bottom-fermented beer, like a stronger version of classic Czech světlý ležák. Many brewers believe Imperial Lager and Bock to be the same thing.

INDIA PALE ALE (IPA) – a type of top-fermented beer, usually golden or amber in colour, with pronounced hop bitterness and flavours. Variations include Black IPA and Double IPA.

Breweries & Brewpubs

Klášterní pivovar Strahov ('The Strahov Monastic Brewery')

Strahovské nádvoří 10, Prague 1 – Hradčany
Mon–Sun 10am–10pm
+420 233 353 155
www.klasterni-pivovar.cz

Not far from Prague Castle, the Strahov Monastery complex houses a historical brewery which offers its own beer called Sv. Norbert along with excellent Czech cuisine. The history of the Royal canonicate brewery of the Premonstrates in Strahov is intertwined with the history of the monastery itself, founded in 1140. The first written record dates from 1400, when the brewery was rented out for ‘four times threescore groschen, a pound of pepper and one fattened hare per year’.

The brewery was renewed only in 2000. The first batch of beer was brewed in June of the same year, on the feast of St Norbert, the patron saint of the Premonstratensian monastery.

Presently, the Strahov Monastic Brewery includes three “locals” – a beerhall with its own copper brew-kettles and the two storey Sv. Norbert restaurant. During the summer months the brewery courtyard garden is open to visitors.
U Medvídků Restaurant and Brewery

Na Perštýně 7, Prague 1 – Old Town
Mon–Fri 11am–11pm, Sat 11.30am–11pm,
Sun 11.30am–10pm
+420 224 211 916
www.umedvidku.cz

The U Medvídků restaurant, patronized by generations of Prague natives and international visitors because of its renowned Czech cuisine and excellent Budvar, is one of the largest and oldest beerhalls in Prague. It is worth noting that composer Antonín Dvořák brought P. I. Tchaikovsky here in 1888, with the latter noting in his diary afterwards, “These Czechs, how immensely likeable they are!”. When new industrial breweries entered the market, the U Medvídků brewery stopped production and was rebuilt as one of Prague’s largest beerhalls in which the first “tingel-tangel” cabaret played at the beginning of the 20th century.

During the reconstruction in 2015 the original malt house was rebuilt as a “Beer House” comprising a brewing shop, conference hall and microbrewery. The microbrewery itself, unique in its use of medieval technologies, brews unfiltered beers made from purely natural ingredients, fermenting in wooden barrels. The special XBEER 33° dark lager is the strongest beer made in the Czech Republic in terms of its ABV (alcohol by volume).

The restaurant offers traditional Czech cuisine and beer specialties, such as beer onion soup, beer goulash and beer ice cream. You can listen or dance to the folk band which plays there regularly. A 3* hotel has opened next to the restaurant, featuring historic bedchambers.
The restaurant brewery in the Old Town is atypical in its specialization, that of flavoured beer. Its flagship beer is Tribulus, fortified with the medicinal plant Tribulus terrestris, and Salvia Stout – a dark beer with Sage, whose local name translates as Hag’s ear. The stylish and cozy interior of the cellar restaurant on two floors is characterized by its brick walls and wooden fittings and furniture. The beer is served with pickled cheeses, cold meats, venison pâté and homemade bread. The hot food is a modern blend of classic Czech and Austro-Hungarian cuisine. They make their own gingerbread and bacon dumplings, and among the weekly specials popping up on the menu are the chef’s specialties such as pork knuckle from wild boar, roast duck thigh or wild boar in red wine sauce.
the only brewery in Central Europe where beer has been brewed continuously for more than 500 years. It earned its fame by offering its special 13° beer and renowned traditional Czech cuisine.

You can visit the brewery museum or enjoy a traditional Prague Cabaret show (by advance reservation). A historic brew-kettle from the beginning of the 20th century is the pride of the brewery. The feel of this historic building is enhanced by the in-style decor and furnishings in all bar rooms and halls. From the most famous and distinctive Academy Hall, where well-known Czech cultural figures would gather in the 19th century, or the Václavka Hall with its stained glass, to the Knights’ Hall, fitted out in romantic style. For many patrons, U Fleků has become a place of pilgrimage for connoisseurs of Prague and Czech beers, for others an interesting historical monument and one of the most famous among Prague beerhalls.
U tří růží (‘The Three Roses’) Brewery and Restaurant

Husova 10, Prague 1 – Old Town
Mon–Thu, Sun 11am–11pm, Fri–Sat 11am–midnight
+420 601 588 281
www.u3r.cz

The eminent brewer Beneš obtained the brewing rights for the ‘Three Roses’ as long ago as 1405, and thus began one of the longest-running chapters on brewing in the Czech lands. The existing restaurant retains the iconic atmosphere of an Old Prague brewery. They brew several varieties of beer and beer specials here. Among the most notable are the Vienna Red beer and the refreshing topfermented Weissbier with banana and citrus flavours. In addition to beer-tastings, microbrewery guided tours are available.

The restaurant menu offers traditional Czech and Moravian dishes, made from carefully selected fresh ingredients.

Note:
They opened a second branch called Vojanův Dvůr brewery and restaurant in the Lesser Town (U Lužického semináře Street 21).
U Supa (‘At the Vulture’) Brewery and Restaurant

Celetná 22, Prague 1 – Old Town
Mon–Sun 11.30am–midnight,
+420 734 441 892
www.pivovarusupa.cz

This recently opened brewery and restaurant, located on one of the Old Town’s busiest streets, continues a long tradition of brewing in this place that dates all the way back to the 15th century. The big attraction is one of the coppers on the brewhouse; its barrel made of glass, it allows guests an up-close-and-personal view of the brewing process. This unique device cannot be found anywhere else in the Czech Republic. In the summer you can enjoy sitting outside in the pleasant courtyard with a historic fountain, or right in front on bustling Celetná Street. The kitchen serves classic Czech fare.

Novoměstský pivovar (‘New Town Brewery’)

Vodičkova 20, Prague 1 – New Town
Mon–Fri 10am–11.30pm, Sat 11.30am–11.30pm,
Sun noon–10pm
+420 222 232 448
www.npivovar.cz

The New Town Brewery stands on the site of the house where as early as 1434, the maltster Vaněk Zpěvák enjoyed his brewing privilege. Today’s Old Bohemian restaurant brewery builds on this ancient tradition. The merging of the microbrewery and restaurant into one has created an extensive complex of effectively connected spaces above and below ground. You may linger in Gothic halls or in village pub interiors from the 1920s and 1930s. The restaurant specializes in typical Czech cuisine – from garlic soup and “svíčková” (roast beef sirloin in cream sauce) to leg-of-duck confit and roast suckling pig.

They brew their own beer called Novoměstský ležák 11° (New Town lager). Specialties include a beer “flight” consisting of four samples (caramel, coffee, ginger and banana beer), beer sparkling wine or beer liquor distilled directly from the local beer. You may order a so-called “Žirafa” (‘Giraffe’) or a table keg – a two-litre beer column or a ten-litre beer keg, and draw your beer from your own tap directly at your table. The restaurant provides tours of the brewery with expert commentary.

Národní Brewery

Národní 8, Prague 1 – New Town
Mon–Sun 11am–11.30pm
+420 222 544 932
www.pivovarnarodni.cz

A restaurant and brewery at an upmarket address, Národní 8, right next to the National Theatre’s New Stage. They brew their own beer, under the Czech Lion brand. Their 11° is a classic lager, it has a very full and malty, refreshing taste. The special semi-dark lager has additional caramel malt. The beer is more bitter, with a garnet hue and caramel and bread toned flavours. The interior has cosy decor with some distinctive timber features. The kitchens offers traditional Czech dishes, cold and hot cuisine (roast pork knuckle, goulash, beef tenderloin, etc.) and several specialties, such as their hamburger or fried potato dippers. Highly popular of late is the spacious beer garden located in the courtyard.
Nota Bene and Beerpoint

Mikovcova 4, Prague 2 – Vinohrady
Mon–Fri 11am–11pm, Sat noon–11pm (Nota Bene)
Mon–Fri 5pm–2am (Beerpoint)
+420 721 299 131
www.notabene-restaurant.cz

Nota Bene is a modern restaurant with a pleasant interior and friendly service. On its 4 taps they offer a rotating array of their own beers labeled Nota Bene, one of the taps is reserved for brewery specials. The wine list includes wines from small Czech and international growers. The kitchen uses fresh, market-sourced ingredients in a wide range of predominantly Continental dishes.

On the floor below the Nota Bene is the beer bar Beerpoint. The attractive basement interior with modern wooden bar furniture offers the opportunity to taste Nota Bene beers from several taps – 2 are reserved for imported “guest” beers. The super burger, hot dog or grilled pork belly go well with your beer.
Pivovarský dům
(‘Brewery House’)

Ječná/Lípová 15, Prague 2 – Vinohrady
Mon–Sun 11am–11 .30pm
+420 296 216 666
www.pivovarskydum.com

The restaurant and microbrewery has been in operation since 1998 and has become one of the most popular beer establishments in Prague. Always on tap is a minimum of 8 varieties of house-brewed, unfiltered, unpasteurized beers, from light and dark “classics” of the pilsner type, through fermented wheat to singular flavoured beers, such as coffee, banana and green nettle beers. Of the classic lagers, an exceptional one is the dark lager “Štěpán” which presents a notable flavour of spice and caramel. A local curiosity is the “beer champagne ‘Šamp’,,” the first beer in the Czech lands which completes its fermentation in the bottle. Beer is also used for the preparation of beer spirits and mixed beer cocktails.

Throughout the day, the kitchen offers the best of traditional Czech cuisine. Beer is used in the preparation of some of the dishes – from appetizers to desserts. The menu includes beer soup, sausages in black beer, rabbit a la maltster, or pancakes with beer jam.

Vinohradský pivovar
(‘The Vinohrady Brewery’)

Korunní 106, Prague 10 – Vinohrady
Mon–Sun 11–midnight
+420 222 760 080
www.vinohradskypivovar.cz

So far the only brewery in the Vinohrady district making its own beer and distributing it around the city. Its seat is in the former fermentation cellar of the former Vinohrady Burghers Brewery which was in operation until mid-20th century and, in 2001, burned down under somewhat mysterious circumstances. The renovation emphasizes new porthole-like windows made in the two-metres-thick walls between the taproom and the brewery itself, lending the space a special character.

Half of the extensive vaulted cellars are used for the boiling, fermentation, and lagering of several types of beer / traditional unfiltered lagers from Czech malt and hops, but also various specials. The other half of the space is used for a taproom, restaurant, and an underground ballroom used for concerts and other events. The kitchen focuses on beer-friendly dishes in regular rotation, as well as game and fish.

Loď Pivovar (‘The Brewery Boat’)

Dvořákovo nábřeží, Berth No. 19, Prague 1 – New Town
Sun–Thu 11.30am–11pm, Fri–Sat 11.30am–1am
+420 773 778 788
http://pivolod.cz

In Prague, Czechs don’t brew their beer on land alone, but even on water! The two decks of a river boat (originally a floating disco) moored by the Štefánikův Bridge hold all the equipment a microbrewery needs. Their 13 lager tanks produce two pale lagers, one dark lager, and two seasonal specials. To complement the beer and a wonderful vista of Prague Castle, the upper deck serves mainly traditional Czech cuisine, while down in the hold there are cold dishes and locally smoked meats.
Sousedský pivovar Bašta and U Bansethů Restaurant

Sousedský pivovar Bašta and U Bansethů Restaurant

Táboršká 49, Prague 4 – Nusle
Mon–Sun 11am–midnight
+420 724 582 721
www.ubansethu.cz

A small family business which comprises a beerhall, a brewery and a bakery, located a short walk from Vyšehrad Castle. U Bansethů is a legendary pub with more than a hundred years of history, for many years the holder of the Pilsen Urquell brewery certificate for excellent draught beer keeping. It has also made its way into the subconscious minds of Prague citizens thanks to its famous and regular visitor – writer Jaroslav Hašek, author of the satirical novel “The Good Soldier Svejk and His Fortunes in the World War.” The author’s favourite table is still here, ready for him. The kitchen presents a purely Czech menu. The local specialty is roast duck with stuffed potato pancakes and sauerkraut.

The Bašta neighbourhood brewery pours only its own beers, among which the renowned semi-dark 12° lager boasts a number of awards, including 1st place in the Czech Brewers’ Spring Prize competition.
The history of the Břevnov brewery is inextricably linked with the history of the monastery which was founded as early as 993. It can be assumed that soon after the monastery was founded, the brewery was also built to go with their agricultural activity, its existence being indirectly referenced in a document from the 13th century. The brewery is, therefore, considered to be the oldest brewery in the Czech Republic.

The Sv. Vojtěch Monastic Brewery, which was reopened in 2013 and is located in the former Baroque stables, builds on the age old tradition of Břevnov beer. In addition to the classic pale lager, the brewery produces a range of special beers using various types of malts and hops. Monastic beers are sold under the brand name Břevnov Benedict. The restaurant “Klášterní šenk” (‘Monastery tap-room’) is located in the grounds of the monastery, where you may taste most of the beers produced.

This rare family brewery concept, which includes a cosy small pub with copper brew-kettles, was opened in 2004. František Richter, the owner, is a brewer and beer guru with many years of experience from Germany. This establishment, which aims to continue the tradition of Czech hospitality from the good old days, has won many awards as one of the best pubs in Prague.

The Richter brewery brews an extensive range of excellent Bavarian style beers, including wheat beers and bocks, plus Belgian-style Trappist or Kriek specials and knows how to pull a draught beer directly from a wooden, pitch lined barrel. Their quality cuisine consists of traditional dishes, predominantly meat and specialties from the grill, including their popular lamb shank, brewers’ beef stew or the A4 schnitzel.

The historical regional brewery was built in Únětice in 1710. Throughout this period, the brewery was owned by the Metropolitan Chapter of St. Vitus Cathedral in Prague. In 1897, Únětice brewery was the third largest in the region, however, the 20th century was not kind to the brewery and in March 1949 production finally closed down.

Beer brewing began here again as late as 2011 thanks to the Tkadlec family who rebuilt the brewery. In 2011, the first batch of Únětice beer was brewed and the beer-opening ceremony launched the modern history of the brewery. To date, Únětice beer is on draught in dozens of businesses in the surrounding area, as well as in Prague.
In the spring of 2012, production was expanded and the renovated brewery bar opened offering traditional old Czech cuisine and beer directly from the tank. Regular tours of the brewery take place every Saturday and Sunday. The tour begins at 12 o’clock in the brewery taproom.

Note: Though not technically a Prague brewery, Únětice beer is renowned in Prague and beyond. The brewery is a popular destination for hikers and bikers alike, as it lies in a picturesque landscape easily accessed either from Prague or from the nearby town of Roztoky which lies on a train line.

Loretánské náměstí 1, Prague 1 – Hradčany
Mon–Sun 10am–10pm
+420 220 513 481

One of the original Old Prague beerhalls is located on Loretánské náměstí Square near Prague Castle. The Renaissance building with a Baroque facade was built in the 16th century. The restaurant was founded in 1905 by Mr. Brinda who offered Smíchov beer, Pilsner Urquell, wine and billiards. The beerhall as we know it today, was opened in 1965 and retained its ‘feel’ or genius loci. The simple historic interior with stained glass windows is dominated by the old Communist-era bar, where they offer the excellent Kozel beer on tap. On offer with the beer are classic snacks such as pickled camembert-style cheese, head cheese with onions or baked ham and eggs. Despite the occasional stray tourist finding their way here, this is a beerhall where Czech patrons prevail – regulars and students.

U Hrocha (‘The Hippo’) Beerhall

Mon–Sun 12am–10.30pm

Those who come to enjoy the exquisitely kept Pilsner beer (they say that it is one of the best in Prague) include locals, tourists and officials from the Castle. The tavern, where people come to ‘join-in and chat’, is renowned for its authentic old beerhall ambience, with Gothic arches and a homely feel. This is a traditional beerhall, and so, the menu includes mainly cold snacks to go with the beer – cheeses, head cheese, pickled sausage (called “utopenec” or ‘drowned man’) and rollmops (pickled herring). Hot dishes include grilled pork steak or sausage. Despite the fact that it is often crowded, you will almost always find a free spot, or you can drink your beer standing up at the bar.

+420 222 221 111
www.uzlatehotygra.cz

The Golden Tiger Beerhall is tucked away on narrow Husova Street, a short walk from the tourist-teeming Karlova Street. Thanks to its excellent Pilsner and its ageless atmosphere made famous by Bohumil Hrabal’s short stories, the pub became something of a pilgrimage site for visitors from near and far and finding an empty seat can be a challenge. The Golden Tiger was Hrabal’s favourite pub and to this day his favourite spot is still reserved for him.
The house has a history going back to the 14th century, and a beerhall has been here since 1816. There is a large variety of cold food on offer, hot dishes including pork steak in potato pancake or pot goulash. The local specialty is beer cheese – this beerhall was the first one to get regular deliveries of this delicacy from the producer. In the evenings it is hopelessly full and so it is advisable to reserve your table.

Pivo a párek beer-shop offers draught beers and beer specials from small and medium-sized breweries at its 7 tap bar. Barrels are changed during the course of the day, the beer is always fresh and up to 140 varieties rotate through. As a rule, traditional soda pop flows from the seventh tap. In addition to the draught beers, there is a rich selection of bottled beers, the most popular of which are ready in the fridge. As the name suggests, food to order consists of high-quality cold cuts from small Czech curers, predominantly a variety of wurst and sausages. In the summer a covered garden is open in the courtyard.
The BeerGeek beer-shop carries roughly 500 kinds of beers. In stock are beers from small and medium-sized domestic breweries, well-known and less-well-known imported brands (for example, beer from New Zealand). Regularly rotated on the four taps are beer specials which the customer can enjoy relaxing in a wicker armchair. The beer-shop has a supply of ingredients and gear for home-brewing; they will also advise about putting together a recipe for your own beer. Home-brewers regularly meet here.

A small beer bar and shop offers beers from all around the world and ingredients for homebrew. It has a long tradition and incredibly wide range of goods. The continuously updated selection includes beers from the smallest craft and medium-sized industrial Czech breweries as well as imported beers.
A small tavern and shop selling beer specials with 6 rotating beers on tap and a large selection of bottled beers from small breweries (up to 150 varieties). Království piva is a place where customers not only come to taste and get to know their beers, but also where they come to chat on the subject. A piano and a children’s corner are available to guests. As for food, you can enjoy local farm-cured smoked meats and cheeses.

The first museum of Czech beer in Prague opened an exhibition about the history and tradition of Czech brewing on two floors, in several themed rooms. There is a place here for beer collectibles, the ancient craft of ice cutting, and original bottling machines. A scale model of a brewery explains the process of malt production and beer production itself. In the beautiful cellars of the 13th century building you may taste a number of varieties of Czech beer, either in a pub from the 19th century or in the traditional local from the era of socialism, all within the price of your entry fee. A guided tour (which needs to be booked in advance) includes admission, guide, tasting of 4 beers and bottling your own beer.
